ABOUT ME

I started working in the insurance industry straight out of school and have held a variety of different roles.

My passion is making clients happy with the service I provide. It really puts a smile on my face if a client tells me that I've helped them or saved them money.

Making sure clients are happy with the service I provide is my number one priority, but establishing honesty and trust between me and clients is equally important to me. I take the time to understand the needs of each of clients and arrange insurance coverage to suit.

As I run my own small business, I understand the time pressures clients are under. I understand they don't want unnecessary calls and I tend to know which clients like regular contact and which ones only want to hear from me once or twice a year.

I'm also really family oriented and I have three boys. One of my sons is an electrician, one plays professional rugby league and one is working towards being a professional golfer, so I tend to spend a lot of time supporting them. I also play and coach touch football.
